Nadiya Pylypiv

To Vasyl Stefanyk Carpathian National University:

I am pleased to confirm that Ms. Nadiya Pylypiv was a Visiting Scholar at the MIT Sloan School of Management from February 1 through June 30, 2026.

During her time at MIT, Ms. Pylypiv was engaged in a range of academic and project-based activities across the Institute. She participated in the practice-oriented course 11.S941 Innovating in Ukraine at the Department of Urban Studies and Planning, led by Professor Elisabeth Reynolds. As a member of her project team, she contributed to the development of the project titled “A Creative Talent Ecosystem for Vinnytsia: Coordination as a Structural Mechanism for Regional Innovation Development.”

In addition, Ms. Pylypiv took part in the course iEco4REAL (Innovation Ecosystems for Regional Entrepreneurship Acceleration Leaders) at MIT Sloan, led by Dr. Phil Budden. As part of this program, she contributed to the development and presentation of the team project “Massachusetts Deep Climate Tech: Supporting Commercialization Especially Beyond Metro Boston Region.”

Throughout her appointment, Ms. Pylypiv demonstrated commitment to academic learning, collaboration, and applied research.

We are pleased to have hosted Ms. Pylypiv at MIT Sloan and appreciate her contributions during her time here.

Sincerely,
